From the Editor

We have hit the streets a few times already this year. Garage projects are in full swing and plans for our show are on track. I was very proud to be part of our club during the celebration of Bruce Benders life. Bruce certainly received a great final cruise to his eternal resting place. We had about seven Chevelles in the funeral procession and the Priest at the church made several comment about Bruce's flare for flashy cars. We will continue to keep Bruce's wife Melanie in our thoughts and prayers. We are reminded that life is to short and it's important to enjoy every moment we can. I find it comforting to know how people with similar interest pull together in times of needs. Our passion for this hobby continues to strengthen as meetings grow in size. This is actually starting to pose a minor space problem. We plan on having the next meeting at Joe's Pizza Shop which is a stones throw from his insurance office on Rt 82. We should be able to stretch out on some picnic tables and enjoy some Pizza and Ice Cream during the meetings with our Chevelles right next to us. The July meeting will be at the Holiday Inn in Westlake so we can work out some final details for the show. In this issue you will find that a few members have made some major progress on their projects, repaired their current rides or purchased new Chevelles. That's great to see as it gets harder and harder to stay in this hobby. On a final note before Larry and I head to the National Convention for Chevelles called "Chevelle—a- bration in Nashville TN. ACES president Chuck Hanson has just announce they are expanding membership past 1972, yes that means Joe can join ACES with his 74 Chevelle now.

Luck, the good and bad when owning American Muscle—by Ed Nichols

We have all experienced "luck" with owning our classic cars. There is the bad luck of when parts break, or mother nature throws a Monkey Ball at you. Some times it is when you can't find the long lost part to complete your project. Then there's the good luck of getting a warning
